"SEE ALABAMA FIRST"

BY JIM HART

ALABAMA PETROLEUM COUNCIL

Marshall Space Center

Who would have thought 20 years ago that rockets, manned earth orbits and "Telstar Satellites" would play such an important part in our lives today? Certainly, even if we could have visualized all this, the most dedicated Alabamian would not have pictured this state as the birthplace of our space age.

Aside from all the news stories and television programs which have kept us abreast of these developments, there is a little known building at the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center in Huntsville which has on display in chronological order, the rockets telling this story of space exploration.

A trip to this building, called the "Space Orientation Center," will be one of the most entertaining and informative you or your family ever took. The "Space Orientation Center" is open six days a week, Monday through Saturday, from 9:00 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Visitors are welcome and passes may be obtained from any of the Arsenal gates.

Here briefly is what you can expect to see. Outside the building there is a rocket display including the following: Saturn Booster, Mercury-Redstone, Juno II, Jupiter C, Redstone, Jupiter and the German V-2. Inside the building

Selma Horse Show

Usually we reserve this column for tourist attractions or places to spend a weekend or a vacation, but we have just learned of an event in Dallas County which we felt a lot of Alabamians might like to know about and plan to attend. This is the 29th annual Selma Horse Show which is being presented Saturday, September 21, by the Selma Jaycees.

I was as surprised as you probably will be to learn that thousands of people from all over the South travel hundreds of miles to witness these classic exhibits. From the planning that has gone into this show, I feel certain that anyone traveling to Selma will certainly get his money's worth.

A barbecue will precede the horse show at 6:00 p.m. and immediately af-

Century-Old Laws, Acts Pinpoint Farm Advances

Three measures enacted in 1862 sparked 100 years of amazing agricultural progress.

That was the year the U.S. Department of Agriculture was born and the Homestead Act and the Land-Grant Act became law. In those days there hadn't been many changes from the farming methods of the middle ages. One farm worker produced only enough for five people. Today that figure is 27.

Foy Helms, of Auburn University, adds that this is the result of many factors, including the development of power machinery, commercial fertilizers, better plants and animals and the discovery of controls for insects and diseases.

Teamwork by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and land-grant colleges like Auburn University has pioneered new and better farming methods resulting in greater quality, purity and abundance.

There are 12 exhibits in all with each exhibit divided into several displays. In addition to the exhibits described here, special exhibits such as space suits, capsules, and other significant items are displayed on a temporary basis when available. Films, too, are shown daily.

A visit to the "Space Orientation Center" will be remembered everytime this Country makes a significant advancement in space exploration or technology.

Crib Death

Crib death is a term for the sudden and unexpected death of a baby in bed or crib. For many years it has been smothered by bedclothes or from lying face down. Many parents whose child has died from what was termed accidental mechanical suffocation suffered the agony of self-blame for years afterward, being unaware that the infant may have died of sudden, severe respiratory infection.

Certainly infants have died from suffocation in cribs or beds either by being tangled in bedclothes or smothered by the body of a sleeping adult who unconsciously rolled over on the infant. The number of infant death certificates recording the cause to be mechanical suffocation numbers over 1,000 each year. However, a careful postmortem examination often gives evidence that the cause of the unexpected sudden crib death was fulminating respiratory infection, and there is considerable doubt that these rapidly rising and severe infections can be accurately detected prior to death.

In a recent survey of 11 cases of sudden unexpected death in infants under six months of age, only five were cases in which smothering could be demonstrated. Some 40 years ago about one out of every ten infants born alive in this country died before its first birthday. Today, fewer than one out of every 50 dies during the first year.

Despite this tremendous decline in infant deaths, each year over 100,000 infant deaths are registered in the United States. How many crib deaths are accidental?

Household Hints

For a crunchy alternate to breakfast toast, split leftover muffins and toast quickly under the broiler. Serve with butter and jam or maple syrup.

Guard against losing important papers from an inside coat pocket by having a zipper closure attached.

To protect the covers of your cookbooks from food stains, apply a layer of press-on transparent plastic. Fingers and stains come off easily from the plastic.

"Is your wife economical?" someone asked Dewey. "Sometimes," Dewey replied. "She used only thirty candles on her forty-fifth birthday cake."

"That's the antenna. It must go on the roof or you won't get any reception," was the reply. "I knowed it—I knowed it!" Emmy

Legionnaires To Sponsor County Fair

The Elba American Legion Post No. 42 is sponsoring the annual County Fair, beginning Monday September 30 and continuing one full week. Featured will be farm and industrial exhibits and a carnival of rides. The show will be open each afternoon and evening during the week.

Children's Day will be Wednesday, October 2nd.

Synthetic rubber manufactured in 60 seconds was only one of the highlights in General Motors world-famous science show, "Views of Progress," which appeared at Elba High School on Thursday September 12.

Designed to stimulate student interest in science and engineering, the 45-minute stage show was presented in non-technical language by a two-man team using more than 1,000 pounds of equipment. Nine dramatizing the contributions of research and technology to modern living, make up the fast-moving program.

The synthetic rubber manufacturing process used in the show is the fastest of its kind known to man. Two liquids mixed in a bottle produced a mass of "instant" synthetic rubber fifteen times the size of the bottle in only one minute. This novel experiment was part of the polymer chemistry demonstration.

Another feature of the polymer sequence was the manufacture of a piece of foam plastic used in automobile and airplane crash-pads. A relatively new field, polymer chemistry has already provided many useful products and materials.

Also demonstrated in the show were a model car powered by sunlight, a roaring jet engine and a vivid illustration of gyroscopic principles essential to space travel.

Views of Progress has been seen by 33-million people in the United States, Canada and 22 foreign countries since 1946. This year, nearly two million students and adults will see the show.

The program has received wide acclaim from educators for its role in pointing out career opportunities in science and engineering for millions of high school students each year.

The 45-minute, non-commercial presentation encourages high school students to choose careers in science and engineering by pointing out the ever increasing opportunities in these fields. The show included nine science-injection demonstrations which illustrated some of the many contributions of research and technology to modern living.

Elba's Blood Quota In ARC Is 150 Pints

The West Coffee County Chapter of the American Red Cross will have the initial visit of the Bloodmobile Friday, September 27. The Bloodmobile Unit will be set-up and operated at the Elba First Baptist Church during the hours of 11 A.M. through 5 P.M.

A large amount of preparatory groundwork has already begun to insure the success and provide residents of this area the many benefits of the Red Cross Blood Program. Many local business firms, civic clubs and other groups have been contacted for donor pledges. A house to house donor recruitment drive will be completed tonight in Elba.

Elba's quota for the chapter is 150 pints each six months. This quota will give the chapter a so-called "Full County Coverage." Under a new plan, the Red Cross will take care of the total blood needs of all the residents of the county as long as the chapter continues to meet its donor quota. The coverage applies to all residents of West Coffee County regardless of whether or not the individual has been an active donor. This provision protects the blood needs of those families that cannot donate blood. Another feature of the "Full County Coverage Plan" is the Red Cross will provide the total blood needs of the residents (CONTINUED INSIDE.)

A plea was made two weeks ago for financial assistance for this family. This plea is being renewed because of the seriousness of Billy's illness and because the family desperately needs help at this crucial time.

A "Billy Kelley Hospital Fund" was set up at the Elba Exchange Bank, but if anyone should prefer they may give the contribution directly to the family.

This family is burdened with the knowledge that this fine son of theirs is gradually growing worse and the added burden of financial need is more than they can stand without help. This family is so very grateful for the help they have already received and though they do not ask for this assistance they have friends who know the circumstances and are making this plea for them.

Those who sympathize with burdens such as this and can afford to give little or big will go to the rescue of this family here at home where charity should begin.

A report will be given later as to the response of this plea and the help extended to the family who is suffering one of the heaviest burdens that can be placed on the shoulders of parents.

They need help.

THREE ELBA BROTHERS IN ARMY TOGETHER - "Pfc Sanders, report to the orderly room on the door," boomed the company runner as he stood in the doorway of the day room of Company "C," 1st Battalion, Medical Field Service School.

In most companies throughout the Army, Pfc Sanders would have promptly jumped up and reported, but the order at Company "C" could have produced several different situations. Pfc Ronald L. Sanders could have reported, or his twin brother, Donald, could have reported, or their older brother, Pfc James Sanders, or all three could have answered.

The Sanders brothers, whose service numbers differ only in the last digit, are at Brooke Army Medical Center attending the Medical Records and Report course and all three will graduate on the same day with approximately the same grade averages. The brothers graduated from the Clerk Typist School at Fort Polk, Louisiana, with final average grades of 79-80-81. The twins haven't been separated for longer than two days throughout 19 years. The situation won't change much after they leave the Medical Field Service School as both the twins will be assigned to Ft. George Meade, Maryland. Brother Jim, who is 20, will be transferred to Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania.

In 1960 all three brothers were hospitalized the same day, were bedded in the same ward. The twins had operations for ingrown toenails, and James had an appendix removed. That's not all, in 1958 both twins broke their collar bones only a day apart and later, both broke off the same tooth only a day apart.

The Sanders brothers have a younger brother, Robert, 13, and are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Sanders of Elba, Alabama.

Elba Students Recipients Of University Scholarships

Three Elba students, Miss Mary J. Smith, John W. Vaughan, and Franklin Wilkes, are recipients of scholarships at the University of Alabama. Miss Smith is holding a special scholarship. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. John D. Smith. Vaughan is the recipient of the Hardaway Foundation scholarship. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom B. Vaughan, Sr. Wilkes is the recipient of a special scholarship.

His parents are Mr. and Mrs. M.C. Wilkes. Miss Smith is affiliated with Alpha Delta Pi sorority at the Capstone. She is a political science major and a Spanish minor. As a member of the debate squad she has won numerous awards, among them top speaker at the National Tau Kappa Alpha Conference. Vaughan is a freshman majoring in biology and minoring in chemistry. A 1963 graduate of Elba High School he was a delegate to Boys State and was selected to Who's Who. He was president of the student council and was one of five valedictorians with an all A average.

Wilkes is a freshman in the College of Arts and Sciences. He was a national winner in "Food Comes First For Youth Power" contest. He was also a member of the Beta Club and President of his senior class in high school.

Elba's Young Billy Kelley Afflicted With Incurable Cancer

Billy Kelley, 9 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover "Bill" Kelley, of Elba, is critically ill at his home because he is afflicted with incurable cancer. He has been confined to the Opp Hospital, a Columbus, Georgia hospital and in Birmingham. During this time the father had to miss work at Dorsey Trailers a great deal.

A plea was made two weeks ago for financial assistance for this family. This plea is being renewed because of the seriousness of Billy's illness and because the family desperately needs help at this crucial time.

A "Billy Kelley Hospital Fund" was set up at the Elba Exchange Bank, but if anyone should prefer they may give the contribution directly to the family.

A REPORT FROM George C. Wallace Governor of Alabama

The use of military force to integrate the public schools of Alabama last week brought the most potent instrument of force in the world, directed by the ruthless hand of the Attorney General, against the people of Alabama. The Kennedy took personal command of their Alabama garrison. The federal courts, by injunction, removed every State Trooper from the job that I assigned to them—keeping the peace at various schools in this State.

For carrying out their duty in this regard they could have been individually and collectively imprisoned by the armed forces of the United States. The President then took over the only remaining force, the National Guard, that I had at my disposal to keep the peace.

Mr. Kennedy, consumed by his doubtful re-election, took complete charge. The Kennedy forces lay the predicate for the jailing of the Governor of Alabama. Was this done because it has been announced that I might participate in some of the Presidential primaries?

When we come to jailing political opponents we will have taken another long step toward a military dictatorship.

The cause of freedom and liberty, although imperiled once again by unwarranted and illegal action of the federal government is not lost. I would call to the attention of citizens of the other 49 states of the Union the grave nature of the events that have occurred in Alabama. The Governor of this Sovereign State, whose constitutional duty it is to enforce the law and preserve the peace, was denied the means with which to carry out that duty.

Similar federal encroachment can easily occur in other states. Everyone stands in danger of being crushed by military force when they disagree with the dictates of the central government.

Some elected officials of this state have worked in concert with our enemies. Every tactic in the book has been used to force integration on the people of Alabama and it has been done at the peril of life, liberty, and property.

If our enemies—those who assail our stand for constitutional government because it is incompatible with their selfish dreams and ambitions—think that we are crushed, let them know now that their latest actions have only strengthened our determination to fight for our rights until we see our cause prevail.

Again I say, we are standing up, and the heel of tyranny does not fit in the neck of an upright man. We shall continue to resist judicial and executive oppression. We shall continue to take our cause to the people of the United States until they fully realize the eminent danger posed by arbitrary judicial action and self-serving executive decrees. We shall take our fight to the ballot box until those who promote and support the suppression of legal, constitutional government are replaced by men who aspire to be servants of the people, rather than their masters.

City Adds More Space To Elba Library

The Elba Public Library is growing. This is indicated in its physical space and its book circulation. Recently the City Council of Elba made arrangements for the library to double its size by adding another room. This additional space means much to the attractiveness of the library and facilitates service to patrons.

Circulation figures show already this year the library is having a banner year. 9,470 books and other pieces of educational materials have been loaned during the first eleven months of this fiscal year which began in October. Records show the library has shown a steady increase in service during the last five years. Circulation figures for 1958 were 5,899; 1959, 6,039; 1960, 8,103; 1961, 8,519, and in 1962, 8,745 checkouts from the library were made.

Mrs. Glennie Rowe Smith is librarian. The library is financially supported by the City Council of Elba and the Cross Trails Regional Library Service. The City council is composed of Mayor Doyle Roberts, Boyd Murphree, Fulton Spurlin, Elmer Taylor, Jordan J. Lindsey, and Owen Ziglar.

Mrs. Frances Hurto represents the Elba area of the Cross Trails Regional Library Board.

Many Licenses Due Oct. 1st, Avoid Rush And Penalty

Store license, business and professional license, auto and truck tags, boat tags and hunting and fishing licenses, will be available at the office of the Judge of Probate October 1, 1963. Boat owners may keep the same tag number issued to them for 1963 by applying for renewal between October 1 and November 15.

Hunting and fishing licenses, effective October 1, may be obtained at the present time by persons wishing to be ready on the first day of dove season or wishing to avoid the rush.

Store and privilege license also are available at the present time but will not go into effect until October 1.

Prices for all licenses will be the same as last year, with the exception of a few minor changes in the 1960 census increase in population of the cities in Coffee County. Also the price of drivers license increased August 1, 1963 from $2.25 to $4.25.

Persons renewing their store license and privilege license may save time by taking their last year's license along with them to be renewed.

Deadline for store, business and professional license will be October 31. Deadline for motor vehicle license, as in prior years, will be November 15. The deadline for boat tags will be the same as for auto tags.

All persons who need to renew licenses are urged to do so early as practicable in order to avoid the last minute rush and to avoid a possible penalty.

Record Year For Public 'Opinion' Messages To Washington

It looks like a record year for public "opinion" telegrams to Washington.

"Tell — It's to Washington" wires are expected to top the half-million mark in 1963, setting a new record. It was announced today by Bonneau Rowe, local manager for the telegraph company.

"There has been a noticeable pick-up in the past 90 days when more than 150,000 opinion telegrams were sent to Washington," said Mr. Rowe. "This is double the volume of the preceding three months."

"Congress appears headed for a year-end session, as proposed action on legislation still remains in such issues as the nuclear test ban treaty, civil rights, tax cuts, college aid, and other hot issues. The result should be a record number of telegrams from constituents."

"Helping — to boom 'opinion' wires is Western Union's new Personal Opinion Message, called 'POM.' This flat-rate telegraph service permits senders to express their views and recommendations to the President, Vice President, Senators and Representatives in Washington, at 85 cents for a 15-word 'opinion' telegram from any point in the continental United States, the sender's name and address, to assist in speeding a reply, is included at no extra cost."

Football Alabama Football Story: Injuries And Inexperience

Injuries and inexperience. That is the story of Alabama football at this point. With only a few days remaining before the Tide's season opener against Georgia in Athens the Bryant coached crew has been decimated in the line to the point of being not able to start a single proven winner.

At the conclusion of spring practice Alabama had five returning lettermen ends. An academic deficiency has claimed one, one quit the squad, a knee injury has sidelined another for the year, and a fourth has been injured all fall. Of the five only one remains healthy, Jimmy Dill of Mobile. A sixth flankman, Lynn Strickland of Alexander City, who was counted on as a top replacement has come up lame with a leg injury.

The only tackle who has been at any time in the past been a starter, Butch Henry of Selma, "in all probability will not be able to play in the Georgia game" due to an injury. Another Red unit tackle, Jim Simmons of Piedmont has been crippled to the point of missing several days work.

The Tide's top three stars are injured and inexperience. That is the story of Alabama football at this point. With only a few days remaining before the Tide's season opener against Georgia in Athens the Bryant coached crew has been decimated in the line to the point of being not able to start a single proven winner.

At the conclusion of spring practice Alabama had five returning lettermen ends. FROM OUR OLD FAMILY ALBUM...

What nostalgic memories this picture brings. Every Sunday morning we used to drive to Church in Pop's old "fiver" picking up the Parson on the way.

Today I live in a great city. I ride commuter's trains, and dictate letters, and spend endless hours "in conference."

But I've never forgotten our Church in the field. It plowed deep furrows in my life, and planted the seeds of real happiness.

Now I worship in a big city church. You might think it would be different; but it isn't. Folks are just as friendly. The Truth is just the same. And God is just as close.

You see, in the country or in the city, Christians are conscientious people trying to be better. And for folks like you and me who worship God, the Church — big or little — is home.

TRAVELING ALABAMA

"SEE ALABAMA FIRST"

Little Mountain State Park

When fall approaches and the leaves turn all colors in the rainbow as nature begins painting autumn masterpieces of beauty and splendor, we start hurriedly searching for someplace to travel before winter silently closes the door. Fortunately, Alabamians can travel all months of the year in comfort. Our large spectrum of temperature variations. During the hot summer months we find coolness and serenity in the mountains and hills of the north, and when winter comes we still have comfortable vacation spots on the Gulf Coast.

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of the Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Back To School

It's back to school for millions of American youngsters this month. It's starting school for the first time for the kindergarten and first graders, several million of them.

There's no one season of the year that is best for physical checkups, even though you've heard before: "Many times a year, you have, and you'll hear it again and again."

Despite all the combined efforts of the medical profession, public health officials, school officials, voluntary groups, and many others, there still are countless millions of Americans who are facing unnecessary risk of disease, crippling, and even death simply because they have procrastinated about immunizations for themselves and their families.

There are vaccines against a number of communicable diseases now readily available. There have been no cases of smallpox in the United States for several years; but there still is smallpox in much of the world, and each year or two this nation has a smallpox scare from an infected traveler returning from abroad. Revaccination for smallpox is recommended at three-to-five-year intervals. How long since you've renewed your protection?

There still are cases of tetanus, or lockjaw, every year. Almost everyone is vaccinated. Tetanus toxin offers excellent protection. Tetanus is a serious infection that often proves fatal. It's much too serious to take a chance.

Thanks to the vaccines, poliomyelitis is now down to a few hundred cases a year, but polio is still present in the United States and is still a potentialcrippler or killer. Despite some eight years of steady campaigning for polio vaccination, there still are millions of Americans unprotected. Have you had your polio vaccine? If so, have you had a booster lately?

Diphtheria is still dangerous and by no means wiped out despite the fact that a vaccine has been available for years. Whooping cough is so common in childhood that most parents don't consider it serious, but whooping cough can be dangerous. It also can be prevented by vaccination. Vaccines proved to be effective against measles have recently been developed. Ask your doctor about protection against measles for your children. With the approach of the fall season and the time for schools to reopen, now is a good time to check on your family's vaccination status. If anyone in the household is lacking any of the essential immunizations, see your doctor and bring your family's protection up to date. South Alabama Growers Bag Loads Of Peanuts Alabama produces about 175 million pounds of the shelled peanuts consumed annually by Americans. In fact, the Southeastern part of the state furnishes nuts for some of the finest peanut products made. Alabama and Georgia alone grow about two-thirds of the peanuts used in the nation's peanut butter. The question is: Where are they used over the nation? Dean Bond, Auburn University peanut expert, answers and explains the nutty facts this way:

"Take 20 salted peanuts in your hand to represent the billion pounds of shelled peanuts we eat in a year. You can break them down like this: Eight will become peanut butter, four will be eaten as salted nuts, four will go into oil, three into candy and one in the shell will go to ballgames and carnivals."
